Heritage Exhibition being held in the Council Chamber Market Hill

Brandon is taking part in the National Heritage open days event for the first time.

Brandon & District Local History Society have been asked to create an exhibition of Brandon's amazing history and heritage.

The display represents just a fraction of the historical material that the Society has stored in its archives.

This year we have had a team of members researching and cataloguing our Brandon archives with a view to putting them onto our new website.

During the event some of our historians will be taking people on heritage walks in the town also some of our historians will be giving talks at various venues. Check the website for more details.
